

CoCM Capacity Building Fund

On behalf of the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services (NCDHHS), Community Care of North Carolina (CCNC) is accepting applications for the Collaborative Care Management (CoCM) capacity building funding for primary care practices entities.

Collaborative Care Management (CoCM) is an evidence-based behavioral health integration model designed to support primary care clinicians as they assess and treat patients with mild to moderate behavioral health conditions. An evidence-based model, shown to be more effective than usual care, CoCM improves patient outcomes, increases satisfaction for both patients and providers, and reduces healthcare costs and stigma related to mental health and substance use disorders. The NC General Assembly has provided financial support to grow the CoCM model in North Carolina.

Award

The capacity building fund has a maximum award of $50,000.00 per practice site for the implementation of Collaborative Care Management (CoCM). A primary care practice entity applying on behalf of multiple primary care practice sites may receive a maximum of three awards per entity (covering a maximum of 9 sites). Each clinic site may be eligible to receive awards of $50K to newly adopt the CoCM model in-house, $30K for practices that have already adopted the CoCM model in-house and want to expand, or $20K for practice sites that meet Phase 1 eligibility but will outsource staffing to a 3rd party turn-key company. Applicants must be a North Carolina Medicaid enrolled primary care practice entity/site to apply.
