

Community Care Recruitment and Practice Start-up Programs

Initiatives of CCNC's Center for Community-Based Primary Care and CCPN launching in January 2025

Community Care Physician Network (CCPN) and Community Care of North Carolina (CCNC) recognize primary care's critical role in ensuring healthy communities. We want to support a robust primary care delivery system across our state, especially in our most rural and vulnerable communities.

CCNC's Center for Community Based Primary Care is creating the Community Care Recruitment and Practice Start-Up Programs to positively impact a primary care workforce pipeline.

The Community Care Recruitment Program

This program is aimed at residents specializing in family medicine, pediatrics or general internal medicine willing to commit to practice in an independent CCPN practice. The program is also open to Family Nurse Practitioners (NPs) and Physician Assistants (PAs) serving as community-based primary care clinicians, as we understand their value to the primary care delivery system.

Practice Start-up Program

The Center also recognizes that starting a new primary care practice can appear daunting to newly licensed physicians and so the Community Care Practice Start-up Program has been created to support clinicians seeking to start their own independent CCPN practice. Requests will be assessed and funded on an individual, case-by-case basis.

The Community Care Recruitment Program will provide unrestricted funds to incentivize eligible primary care clinicians to practice in a CCPN practice serving vulnerable populations, including Medicaid and Medicare beneficiaries.
